

BRITAIN ACCEPTS TWELVE MILE RUM LIMIT

FORBES IN DENIAL OF GRAFT STORY TOLD TO SENATE UTTERLY AND ABSOLUTELY FALSE, ASSERTION OF EX-DIRECTOR.
WILL TAKE OATH Asks Public to Withhold Judgment Until Documents Are Shown.

(By Associated Press)
Washington—From his place of seclusion here, Charles R. Forbes, former director of the Veterans' Bureau, issued a statement today denying as "utterly and absolutely false" the story of William H. Mortimer of Philadelphia before the senate investigating committee of alleged bribery and corruption in connection with contracts for veterans' bureau hospitals.
"I do not feel that I ought to make any statement in advance of the full and complete testimony which I shall give under oath on the witness stand," said Mr. Forbes' statement. "However, at the insistent urging of my friends and in response to inquiries from the press, I cannot refrain from saying that every charge and every word of testimony, especially that of William H. Mortimer, reflecting on my personal or official integrity are utterly and absolutely false and without the slightest foundation."
"The story of the receipt by me of a $5,000 bribe was not only false but so absurd as to be ridiculous. The only thing I ask of the public is to withhold judgment until my witnesses and I appear and the full documentary evidence produced."
"In reply to inquiries as to when I will testify, I do not know, as that is entirely within the discretion of the committee."
The committee has decided to hear Mr. Forbes next week if he desires. Meanwhile the former director is resting on the advice of his physicians.

FORBES DIVORCED, RECORDS OF SEATTLE COURT SHOW
(By Associated Press)
Seattle—After being carefully concealed for more than two weeks, it was discovered here last night in a search of court files that Mrs. Kate Forbes, wife of Col. Charles R. Forbes, former director of the United States Veterans' Bureau and who has been mentioned prominently at a hearing being conducted by the senate committee at Washington, D. C., investigating alleged graft in connection with the awarding of contracts for government hospitals, was granted an interlocutory decree of divorce by Judge John C. Williams of the Kings county superior court on Oct. 21.
The suit was handled with the utmost secrecy and efforts were made to conceal both the action and the granting of the divorce.
No mention of Forbes' government of business connections was made in the complaint. Col. Forbes was referred to in the suit merely as "Charles Forbes."

COOLIDGE IS BEST-LODGE
Montpelier, Vt.—"I can see no man on the political horizon of other party who compares in fitness with the man now sitting in the president's chair," Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts declared in an address last night.
The speech was the first in the campaign to elect Porter H. Dale to the national senate to fill the vacancy created by the death of Senator William F. Dillingham, and to elect Col. Ernest W. Gibson to the seat formerly held by Mr. Dale in the house.

Steinmetz, Great Scientist, Dead

Charles P. Steinmetz in his laboratory.

(By Associated Press)
Schenectady, N. Y.—Dr. Charles Proteus Steinmetz, electrical wizard, died at his home today from a physical breakdown, due to a trip to the Pacific coast, from which he recently returned. He was 73 years old.

Dr. Steinmetz was born in Breslau, Berlin and Zurich. In 1892, after coming to America, he was made consulting engineer of the General Electric company, a position he held at the time of his death. He also had been professor of electrical physics in Union university since 1902, and was the author of a score of works on electrical subjects. He was a tireless experimenter along electrical lines. His most famous recent achievement was the creation of lightning by artificial means. He was a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

Dr. Steinmetz was last reported in the vicinity of Utah, Greenland, about 1,000 miles above Berlin's Bay, in longitude, 75, latitude, 51.

Madison—A stipulation signed by District Attorney Lewis of Dane county and attorneys for Piper Brothers, Madison, requesting that records in the building heights laws case be returned to superior court here for a direct test of the proposed Piper Hotel in Madison, was completed today by Deputy Attorney General Robert Reiser.

The stipulation will be filed in the supreme court immediately. The building heights case will thereby be reopened and trial on the Piper building will follow.

The supreme court last week upheld the validity of the building heights law.

Arrest "Bootlegger King" at Point of Revolver
(Special to this Gazette)
Edgerton—One of the most important arrests in Edgerton since prohibition went into effect was made here Thursday afternoon when William Blumstein, of Sullivan, known in the tobacco circuit as "wig-wag" bootlegger, was taken into custody after Chief Ben Springer and Constable Charles Edgerton found 71 gallons of alcohol in his car which was parked in front of Auto Inn.

Blumstein was arrested at the point of a gun by Constable Gary

FORD WOULD USE ARMY AND NAVY TO BACK PROHIBITION

PRESIDENT CAN DRY UP COUNTRY, DECLARES MANUFACTURER.
CORDON TIGHTENS Enforcement Growing Stricter, Assertion; Gives Credit to Coolidge.

(By Associated Press)
Detroit—Henry Ford favors President Coolidge, but he is more strongly in favor of a strict enforcement of the Volstead act, he made it known yesterday. In a statement made by the automobile manufacturer, he asserted that he believed the president could dry up the country if he wanted to. "If he does, I'm strong for him," Mr. Ford asserted. "The president knows it is the right thing to do. He also knows the women of the nation are going to have a lot to say if he does not act."
Mr. Ford believed that not one woman in 5,000 wished to see the former anti-prohibition days back. He also expressed the opinion that enforcement was not as slack last month as previously and gave President Coolidge credit for bringing about the change.

Reiterating his previous statement, that if he were in charge of enforcing the dry law he would call upon the army and navy, he said that he believed that the law is enforced, he used Detroit as an illustration, asserting that the soldiers at Fort Wayne could wipe out Detroit in a short time, and that the psychological effect on prohibition law violators would be further violations of the law.

"Any one who is afraid to enforce the prohibition law is a political coward," Ford asserted. "I never drank, but I am for prohibition because I know its benefits."

BATHING SUIT IS VAIN INCUMBRANCE AT SANTA BARBARA
Santa Barbara, Cal.—Bathing suits are no longer a necessity on the ocean beach in the evenings and early morning may be bathed in the water. The old ordinance in force in Santa Barbara does not say that bathing suits must be worn at night. The ordinance provides that suits must be worn between the houses of six o'clock in the morning and 8 in the evening. It makes no provision for suits the rest of the day. The ordinance has been in force for some time that bathing parties have been held without suits, but it has been known that the return to ancient customs had legal backing.

Two Texans Dead in Grim Gun Duel
Tongue, Tex.—In a little room in a barn at Young, in Freestone county, shortly after dusk Wednesday night, two men stood toe to toe, their left hands locked together, their right hands clutching smoking revolvers, which spat bullets until neither man could summon strength to pull the trigger. Dead with their boots on, and still grasping each other, they were found.
The principals in the shooting, one of the grimest pistol duels Texas ever saw, according to Sheriff David Terry of Navarro county, were: Norwood Huckaby, member of a

An even distribution of books under both arms and assiduous practice of a "daily dozen" are remedies for the "lopsided condition," suggested by Miss Elliott.

SHERIFF ARRESTS FOUR IN RAID ON SOUTH JANESVILLE

County officers stir up sensation at brick hotel.
HUNT FOR TANK Secret Tubing System Is Found—Two Are Charged With Bootlegging.

Making a surprise visit at the Hotel building in South Janesville at 10 a. m. Friday, Sheriff Fred Bely and a squad of deputies stirred up a sensation in the "underworld" when they arrested the operators of the alleged resort on a charge of bootlegging. Uncovered what they believe is the secret liquor tank, arrested an unmarried couple in one of the bedrooms, and confiscated close to a gallon of alleged wine, all in less than an hour.
The two taken for alleged sale of liquor at the place, Herman Schallitz and Margaret Schallitz, were to be arraigned in municipal court Friday afternoon.

The two arrested on a statutory charge were Roy McKinney and Dorothy Young, McKinney being the husband of Barbara McKinney, according to the complaint. These two were taken by Judge J. H. Z. (Continued on page 8)

U. S. PROPOSAL FOR LIQUOR SEARCH IS VIRTUALLY AGREED

CURZON COMMITTEE IN POSITIVE ACTION ON PROJECT.
MAIN POINTS MET Imperial Conference Expected to Approve Report on Contraband Zone.

(By Associated Press)
London—The British government has accepted in principle the proposal of the American government that vessels in American waters be searched for contraband liquor within twelve miles of the American shore.

The export committee of the imperial conference, which has been studying the question under the chairmanship of Foreign Secretary Curzon, has drawn up plans which are believed to meet the essential points of the American request.

The plans will be submitted next week to the full conference, which is expected to approve them.

NOT TOTALLY UNEXPECTED BY WASHINGTON OFFICIALS

Washington—The decision of the British government to accept in principle Secretary Hughes' proposals for a 12 mile right of search in suppressing liquor smuggling does not come as a surprise to Washington officials, although the British foreign office indicated its disapproval of the project in the last communication to the United States. In this rejoinder the foreign office disclosed that the question was to be laid before the imperial conference, a move which officials here construed as a hopeful sign.

KUFAHL CASE TO BE DELAYED WEEK

Postponement of Preliminary Hearing Scheduled in Elk Horn Court.

(Special to this Gazette)
Elk Horn—Another week's postponement in the preliminary hearing of Ernest Kufahl, Watertown ex-serviceman, charged with being an accomplice of Mrs. Edward Schaud and an enemy of the state, was announced today by Judge Edward Schaud, who will be called before Justice Charles Williams here at 9 a. m. Saturday. This was learned by the Gazette Friday.

It is expected the adjournment will be taken for a week as the circuit court is in session in the court room where the hearing will be held. Kufahl is still in jail, where he has been since his arrest more than three weeks ago.

Mrs. Myrtle Schaud's preliminary hearing was scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 25, before Justice Williams.

$187.50 AVERAGE ELECTRIC FARMS, ON LITTLE STOCK VISION OF FUTURE

Milking Shorthorns Sell Well at Auction Held Here Thursday.

Milking shorthorns from the famous Champion Rose herd of the Walcott estate sold well at the second dual-purpose cattle sale held in the county pavilion at Janesville Thursday. The average on 37 head was $187.50 and the top price was $250, showing how consistent the prices run on the Little stock. It was a remarkable sale, the cattle being true representatives of the breed, well fitted and showing to

The livestock world knows Harvey Little as a quiet man. He never overstates his cattle or praises them. When the auctioneer started to say a word about Harvey to say a word, Little walked to the auctioneer's stand and remarked, "Sell the stock."

Auctioneer Jones paused to remark, "I never felt so much as if I was working for Abe Lincoln himself as right now."

an advantage. There were at least 500 animals sold there, and it was into any show ring of the country. The consignment was well scattered into different states and several animals going to Chicago and other points. There was a crowd that bid well, numbering more than 300 people.

Top Is $250.00.—Champion Rose 18th, a two year old better tracing back to the foundation cows of the Little herd, having record of merit backing on both sides, topped the bidding, going to Earl E. Denton, Doylestown, Wis. This heifer is a wonderful show prospect.

Lady Mayflower 41st, seven years old, another foundation cow, went to the same buyer for $300.

The young bulls sold well, the average being approximately $200. The top bull, a two year old, sold by Premier Model, going to the Grant County Farm, with Jack Keenan, county agent, as the purchasing agent, for $250.

Yearlings Sell Well.—Three yearlings were sent into the ring and auctioned in a bunch and were sold to E. J. Denton, Doylestown, Wis., for $200 a head. These animals were pointed out by Ray Cook, secretary of the Milking Shorthorn society, as being "toppers" of the breed.

Champion Brothers, Janesville, purchased Golden Hope, sired by Golden West, for $200. Golden Sentinel by the same sire, sold to Dr. E. J. Denton, Doylestown, Wis., for $200. Walrath and Larson, Edgerton, Wis., purchased Prime Model for $205.

Cary M. Jones was auctioneer with B. E. Allen and W. T. Dooley, ring men.

Science to Make Efficient Business Units of Rural Plants, Belief.

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago.—Electricity is some day to transform the farm from a place of rudimentary to an efficient business unit, with attractions equal to those of cities, if the vision of a committee on agricultural electrification working here proves of practical effect.

Already the farmers of one community, Red Wing, Minn., have been attracted by the idea of making electric power work for them, the American Farm Bureau federation, operating in the electrification project, announced today. "Other farm communities are to be established throughout the country in an effort to apply electrical methods to farming."

It is the vision of the committee to standardize the use of electrical power on farms, that costs of production will be lessened, farm work made more agreeable, and the home life of agricultural workers made as attractive as it is for city residents.

NORDMAN WANTS A BETTER DISTRIBUTION

(By Associated Press.)

Viola.—The nation today is "out of balance," because it lays too much stress upon efficiency in the production of wealth and too little in a just distribution of wealth, Edward Nordman, state commissioner of markets, told a gathering of farmers here.

"As a result, society finds itself able to procure vastly more wealth than it can place," Commissioner Nordman declared. "This condition is due to the failure of the masses to get just returns for their commodity."

"The failure of the masses to get just returns for their commodity is due to monopoly which must be broken up before good markets and fair prices will prevail. The real question of the farmers' market today is not a matter of increased efficiency in production, but rather that of abolishing privilege to the end that production will get just returns."

Madison.—The state's investigation of operations of the Standard Oil company in Wisconsin and other large companies probably will be resumed with further hearing here next week, state officials here said.

Independent oil companies in the state will be called upon to submit testimony at the hearing, it is said. The investigation was begun by the state department of markets with the assistance of the attorney general's department. Officials of the Standard Oil company were called to testify and two weeks ago independent operations testified regarding alleged manipulation by larger concerns. Independent operators claimed that prices in Wisconsin are set by the Standard Oil company of Indiana.

What action, if any, will be taken by the state department as a result of the investigation has not been determined. It is said, State Marketing Commission Nordman said if the investigation reveals sufficient facts, anti-trust suits may be filed.

TRACTOR GRADERS DOING BIG WORK

Better Maintenance of Dirt and Gravel Streets Is Now Possible.

With two tractor driven grading outfits put into service by the city this week, indications point to Janesville dirt and gravel streets being better maintained under the city manager's plan of government than ever before. Results of the new highway maintenance policy are already becoming apparent, four streets in the Fourth ward having been improved greatly in the past two days by use of one of the new pieces of equipment.

Even better results are expected by use of the graders after a rain. Constant grading and scraping after rains is the secret of maintaining perfect gravel highways in the country and the same policy is now to be applied in the city. It is understood the county highway commission is considering the purchase of some tractor graders next year similar to those just bought by Janesville. The fair association may also purchase one of its kind.

Attract Much Attention.—The graders have been attracting much attention during their operation the past few days, and residents living on streets which were hitherto in bad condition are said to be ready to testify to the accomplishments of the new policy. Part of Cherry street, all of Stone street, two blocks on Riverside street, and two blocks on State street east of Beloit avenue are the stretches improved by one of the machines this week, operated by John McCue.

On the first three streets mentioned, the laying of sewer and water mains had made sections of the roads almost impassable. On Riverside street the covered over ditch had caused the street to be in a bad condition. After going over to the grader the street is now of a uniform surface, although of course more work will have to be done on it after a rain.

Cuts Through Woods.—On State street from Beloit avenue east, the grader showed to even better advantage. Here was a street overgrown with weeds, with two rough lanes for traffic, and in some places only one well traveled route. The grader cut through the weeds, filled up the ruts and transformed the street into a smooth surfaced stretch, all of the space of a few hours with only one man working. With a horse-drawn grader as has been used formerly, two men would have been required and it is doubtful if half the work could be done in the same length of time, nor done as well.

Joseph Lustig, Jr., assistant city engineer, is directing the activities of the street department since the resignation of Street Commissioner Thomas McKane.

Pick-up of leaves by the new dump-body trucks is one of the big tasks being carried on by the street forces this month and Mr. Lustig deems that people desiring to have leaves dumped on their gardens notify the engineering department or the men in charge of the trucks. In this way the length of the hauls can be shortened and more pick-up work may be done. People are asked to cooperate further by removing the leaves from in front of their homes so they will not be washed down into the storm sewers and clog them.

Sewer Machine at Work.—After being out of order for several days, the sewer cleaning machine of the city is now in good shape and performing excellent service. Mr. Lustig reports. A clogged sanitary sewer on Milwaukee avenue was attacked with the machine Thursday with excellent results. Five miles full of roots were extracted from the pipe.

MANAGER TO SPEND TIME ON DRAUGHTING

A graduate of the college of engineering of the University of Wisconsin and having had considerable experience along that line with the federal government and in his work as city manager, City Manager Henry Traher has purchased a draughting table and bench for his own use. It will be placed in his office in the city hall. Mr. Traher plans to spend considerable time in engineering work and draughting at the same time being in his office to attend to other work. The new equipment was bought from the Samsen Tractor company for $10.

Class of 8 to Be Confirmed at Lutheran Church

A class of eight—four boys and four girls—will be confirmed by the Rev. T. C. Thorson at the First Lutheran church at the regular service Sunday morning. It is an annual ceremony, being held in the fall this year instead of in the spring as usual.

For the first time in the history of the church, all the members of the class will wear special confirmation gowns of white.

Members of the class are: Irene Ella Mae Brohm, 208 Race street; Edna Margaret Jensen, 1112 Wheeler street; Leola Edna Carlson, 111 Madison street; Mildred Irene Lockken, 1513 Highland avenue; Harold Le Roy Gotsick, 715 South Garfield avenue; Emil Th. Knutson, route 8; Albert Evan Knutson, route 8; and Earl Chester Anderson, route 1.

New Community Club Organized

Residents of the Southtown school district organized a Community club at a meeting in the Bradford town hall Thursday night. Officers were elected as follows: President, Miss Helen Smith; vice-president, Mrs. Loren Cole; secretary, Miss Agnes McIntyre; treasurer, Lloyd Henry. These officers are to name committees and arrange for the next meeting.

A program by school pupils and Hallowe'en stunts and games were enjoyed.

The program was as follows: Puppets, Mrs. Olson, Ralph Wilber; recitation, Gilbert Cole; dialogue, "The Census-taker," Ellen Johnson, Dean Wilber, Leonard Johnson, Merle Feich, Andrew Caspar.

A ghostly person greeted the guests as they arrived and gave to each a number. The numbers were used to divide the guests into four teams, each of which entered a series of contests in a series of indoor track events, which proved very amusing. Mrs. Florence S. Hyde assisted with the games and gave a talk on pocketbook work. Refreshments consisting of sandwiches, doughnuts and coffee were served.

BAPTISTS BID ADIEU TO PASTOR

Pierson Lauded at Farewell Party and Presented With Gold Watch.

Every department of the Baptist church was represented in the talks given and presents bestowed on the Rev. R. G. Pierson and family at the formal farewell given at the church, Thursday night. The family is leaving for Pittsburgh early next month. Three hundred members of the congregation were present.

The Rev. Robert Lincoln Kelly, Baptist pastor at Delavan, gave the address, immediately following the banquet, which was served at 6:30, talking on "Ray, Play and Stay." Each of the words in turn was applied to Rev. Mr. Pierson. He said that Mr. Pierson had resided in this state for 15 years and in this city for the past seven years.

A representative of each church organization gave a short informal talk, telling of Mr. Pierson's work with their department. O. D. Antislid spoke on behalf of the trustees. His subject was "Facts and Heads."

Praised for Work.—Sixty young people attended in a body and sang several songs between talks. They were represented by Miss Helen Nyloco, who asked Mr. Pierson that the young people's union would carry on the work which he had started among them.

The deacons were represented by J. E. Pickett. Mrs. Lillian Eddy spoke on behalf of the Women's clubs.

In his talk as a representative of the Sunday school, L. K. Crissey stated that Mr. Pierson was personally acquainted with every child in the school and had helped greatly in securing the large membership. He said that he thought that a large men's class at Pittsburgh, the average attendance of which is about 100, had been one of the things which had induced Mr. Pierson to take that pastorate.

A football was presented to the Pierson boys by Donald Erickson, who represented the boys of the church. His talk on "Little Words" consisted of a poem, written by himself.

Presented With Watch.—Mrs. L. D. Barker told of the work of Mrs. Pierson in building up the church during the past few years. She was presented with a set of Navarre pearls. She was also presented with a linen bedroom set and two silver spoons by the King's Daughters, and a floral gift sent by Miss Lucy Granger, who was unable to be present.

Rev. Mr. Pierson was presented with a gold watch and chain by Robert Cunningham, who represented the church as a whole. His subject of presentation speech was "Words, Words, Words."

Both Rev. and Mrs. Pierson gave responses at the close of the program, telling of their appreciation of the friendships formed here.

The men's orchestra furnished music during the entire evening.

Tin Containers
To keep it fresh for you

THE moment you open a tin of Thomas J. Webb Coffee, you can sense its delicious freshness. Direct from the "live flame" roaster to you, no moisture has reached it. No hand has touched it. Not a bit of air has seeped through its container to rob you of its precious freshness.

You don't have to transfer this coffee into an air-tight jar for fresh keeping. Its original tin container with its friction top cover affords complete protection. Protects the coffee on its way to you—protects it while you use it. That's why you can use it little by little and find the very last particle in the tin just as fresh and fragrant and flavor-filled as the first.

Because of this protected freshness, a pound of Thomas J. Webb Coffee goes further than a pound of ordinary coffee. Gives you many more cups of good coffee to the pound—costs you less per cup than coffees that sell for less on the pound.

SIX CASES TAKEN TO CIRCUIT COURT

Changes of Venue Are Filed in Five Liquor Cases and One for Gambling.

Six cases, five of them involving liquor charges, which had been scheduled for trial in municipal court here, are carried to Rock county circuit court for trial at the November term through changes of venue filed on the grounds of prejudice. Copies of the records and the papers in all six cases were turned over to the circuit court clerk Friday by the clerk of municipal court for the trial next month. Payors in other venue changes were turned over several weeks ago.

Dr. J. Ryan is the attorney for the defendant in five of the cases in which a change of venue has just been obtained while Louis Avery appears in the sixth.

The cases transferred Friday to Judge George Grinn's court from that of Judge H. L. Maxfield are:

Austin Farrell, Evansville, charged with possession of liquor, arrested May 23, L. A. Avery, attorney.

Joe Muccoro, Janesville, possession charge, arrested May 17, charged with possession of liquor and destroying evidence, arrested March 5.

City News Briefs

Rescue Stalled Truck—A heavy tank truck of the Champion Oil company, loaded with 600 gallons of oil, became stuck in a sewer ditch on Cherry street and was pulled out by the fire department, Friday morning.

Pays Costs—Charged with conducting himself in a riotous manner and disturbing the peace, James G. Lougher was released by Judge E. L. Maxfield upon payment of costs.

Fined for Intoxication—Arrested on West Milwaukee street Thursday noon by Sgt. Charles Handley, Ed. Trainer was fined $25 and 20 cents in municipal court Friday for intoxication. He pleaded guilty and paid his fine. The case was prosecuted under the state law as the city ordinance on drunkenness does not become effective until the council proceedings are published officially.

Jury Finds Man Guilty on One of Two Counts

After a trial before a 12-man jury in municipal court Thursday afternoon on two charges, William Keating was found not guilty on one count and guilty on the second after 45 minutes' deliberation. The jury held the state failed to prove its contention that Keating was intoxicated, but did find that he possessed liquor when arrested at the corner of Western avenue and Linn street 10 days ago with three friends.

District Attorney S. G. Dunawald represented the state, while E. H. Ryan defended Keating.

The jurors were: D. J. Luby, Edward Amersbach, John Schout, Roy Miller, Walter Porter, Dan McCarthy, William Kummer, Floyd Yeomans, Emil Kossling, George St. Clair, George Davis and Charles Dickey.

Five women jurors were on the list but their names were stricken.

Keating will be sentenced Monday.

CONSTRUCTIVE RAIL AND TAX MEASURES, IS AIM OF GROUP

Washington—Constructive legislation, particularly with reference to railroads and taxation, is the aim of the organized group of progressive republicans of the house; Representative Nelson of Wisconsin, its chairman, said today in outlining the general policy of the organization. The hope is to obtain this without an open fight with the republicans.

The group will not hesitate to fight it that becomes necessary.

50 AT BANKERS' DINNER-DANCE

Fifty employees of city banks enjoyed a dinner and dance party at the Chevrolet club house Thursday night.

The meeting was under the auspices of the Janesville chapter of the A. O. U. E. and was addressed by W. W. Brown, principal of the Janesville high school, who outlined the principles of economics. Frank Gleason presided.

Because of a meeting at Madison, Joseph Preston, 1202 Eastern ave.

MAN STRUCK BY CAR RECOVERING

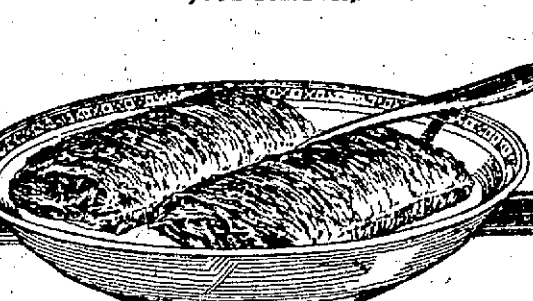

Lyman E. Jackson, the instructor for this year, was unable to be present.

Hatch's orchestra furnished music for dancing which followed the dinner.

Sixteen indicated at the banquet their intention of taking the course in economics, which commences within a few days.

IS THERE A PERFECT FOOD?

Nature has answered this age-old question with whole wheat and milk, the most perfect of all food combinations - and the best form in which to eat the whole wheat is Shredded Wheat Biscuit. It is 100 per cent whole wheat, nothing added, nothing taken away. Two of these tasty little loaves of baked whole wheat make a nourishing, satisfying meal, supplying all the strength-giving nutriment you need for a half days work. It is an all-day food, delicious for breakfast, for lunch, for dinner.

MRS. PARKER STEPS DOWN AS REGENT

Resigns Office in State D. A. R. at Convention in Milwaukee.

Mrs. George S. Parker, Janesville, resigned as state regent of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the close of the annual meeting in Milwaukee Friday and Mrs. Ralph E. Moore, Madison, was chosen by the board to fill the unexpired term. Mrs. Parker returned to Janesville Friday night. She is preparing for another trip around the world and it was her plans for prolonged absence from the state that led to her resignation after two years as regent of the state organization. Mrs. Otto Lueck, Waupun, was appointed vice regent to succeed Mrs. T. W. Spence, Milwaukee, who will be a candidate at the national congress next April for vice president general of the national D. A. R., endorsed by the Wisconsin delegation. Other officers of the state who continue in office are: Mrs. Charles E. Weeks, Madison, recording secretary; Mrs. Norma Gill, Readsville, treasurer; Mrs. George Deschler, Port Jackson, historian; and Mrs. G. W. Lawton, Racine, librarian. The Regent chapter's invitation to entertain the organization next year was accepted.

Much work has been done under Mrs. Parker's direction in the two years she has been state regent and expressions of regret at her resignation were made during the meeting. The D. A. R. is experiencing a steady growth in Wisconsin and Americanization work is being extended by the D. A. R. The nucleus for a $1,000 state scholarship was started at the meeting in Milwaukee.

MEDICS LESS ABLY EDUCATED, CHARGE

Chicago.—Medical schools are turning out doctors less ably equipped to serve their ordinary patients than were the doctors educated in more rugged surroundings, Dr. F. H. McMechan, Avon Lake, O., secretary of the American Medical Editors' association, declared at the convention of the organization here last night.

He made a plea for new methods in medical education which "will produce doctors equipped to operate without million dollar hospitals." "Full time medical education in marble halls," Dr. McMechan said, "is not producing practitioners qualified to cope with the needs of average American communities of today."

Freight Rate Injustice to Farmers.

There is entire justice in the demand of the farmer of the middle west that the freight rates on his products should be reduced. He is asking no special favor because he is a farmer, but is seeking a balance between the market price of his products and the rates. He pays 50 or more per cent above the rate of 1913. His product is 110 to 200 points below the pre-war price. The farmer in his demand for a lower rate sets up the sound financial proposition that depressed as he is, he should not carry more than his just share of the freight costs. Hard coal pays a much greater rate than in 1913. Coal costs more, to be sure, in the market, but the farmer and general small city consumer of the middle west is here hit on the rebound. The principle enunciated in the petition for a hearing on a reduction of rates filed with the interstate commerce commission more than a year ago and which will be heard in Kansas City on November 14, is that freight rates, in a broad way, ought to follow the value of commodities or the ability of the producer to pay, based on market price. When it is shown that the farmer's ability to pay has been so lessened, it is not necessarily an attack on the railroads, although some of the roads are quick to resent such a demand with the claim that this is the old favorite army game of damming
the railroads for political purposes. We have,
it is said to say, such demagogues who have a general brief against all railroads, for all things,
but the matter of freight adjustments for commodities which have long since arrived at a marketing point where they can no longer pay the freight rate is one of pure business consideration
—one of economics and not politics.

The railroads through their publicity departments have a way of figuring to show that in spite of the aggregate higher freight rate, the few cents per bushel added amounts to but a small sum for each producer, but overlook the enormous aggregate sum with which they must finally deal. The farmer has a product that sells at pre-war prices and he pays for everything at war prices including freights. He is more interested in freights than in the articles he purchases, for in the aggregate it amounts to the larger sum which he must pay outright before he can bank his receipts from his farm. What he asks is economic justice and he is not getting it.

The professor who says music has color might have added that it depended on how it is read.

The Rev. R. G. Pierson

The removal from Janesville of the Reverend Raymond Pierson, of the Baptist church, is of more than passing importance since there has been hardly anything in the way of public service which he could render that he has not given freely of time and effort to promote. The very church itself speaks emphatically of the work he has done. He has appreciated the fact that among the larger problems of the church is the one of watching the children and guiding their amusements. That this is a part of the church functions is clearly shown by what has happened in the organization here of which Mr. Pierson has been the active and earnest leader for seven years. Appreciative also of the work he has done in a secular way, he is the Kiwanis organization of the state. He has been a trustee of the Kiwanis for two years and elected lieutenant governor of this district at the recent convention at Eau Claire. We can ill-afford to lose men of the type of Ray Pierson. Fearless, yet diplomatic, militant in his Christianity, a clean, out-spoken, up-standing man is this preacher of the gospel to whom we say farewell this week.

Well, suppose Prussiaism should be confined to Prussia? Would the world suffer?

The Cost of a Good Hotel

Janesville has been interested for a long time in a good hotel. It should be interested more.
The hotel business has grown more in the last five years than it did in 20 previously. The tourist-traveler, the week-end traveler, the commercial traveler, all demand more and better hotel accommodations than ever and there are more of them than ever. In building of a hotel we have been confronted by the statement that a good hotel would cost from $3,000 to $4,000 a room. Five thousand dollars a room was estimated for the hotel for which we were raising money in 1920 and had pledged some $397,000 including the subscription of W. C. Durant.
The Hotel World in an issue last spring called attention to one hotel which had been built at a cost of $2,500 a room. It is in Grand Rapids, Mich., with 350 rooms, and has running hot water on every floor, 80 per cent of the rooms with baths and the 20 per cent without baths have toilets. This is a modern hotel in every way with large enough lobby, mezzanine floor, and two entrances on different streets.
There is still much talk of a hotel for Janesville that will be a real hotel—a center of activity. Such a hotel will bring attention this way as nothing else can do. There was once sufficient local interest to subscribe for $200,000 worth of stock by the general mass of citizens. Can it be done again if the right plan is put up?

It is worth giving some attention at this time
when new hotels are being built all around us.
The disclosure of graft in the veterans' bureau are of such a character that the president and all other coordinating branches of the gov-

SOFT COAL STRIKE POSSIBLE

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN.

Washington.—Taking a long look ahead, well informed observers say that another coal strike is scheduled for next spring, this time in the bituminous field. The agreement which ended the strike of 1922 ends March 31, and a suspension of mining operations will take place the following day unless a new agreement shall have been negotiated in the meanwhile.

Present prospects, as reflected in the attitude of the officials of the miners' union and the organization of the operators, do not encourage a belief that a new agreement will be reached.
Both sides are said to be preparing for a fight that will be the supreme test of their respective strengths.

The preliminary skirmish, which takes the form of a propaganda campaign, is already underway. Both miners and operators are going in for publicity on a large scale and are hurrying charges and counter-charges back and forth in an effort to sway popular sentiment before actual hostilities open up.

On the one hand spokesmen for the United Mine Workers charge that the non-union operators have control of the National Coal association and are doing everything in their power to precipitate a strike with a two-fold object in view: first, to break up and destroy the union;
and, second, to control the market during the strike period and sell their coal at profiteering prices such as were charged during the 1922 strike.

On the other hand the operators charge that the miners are using their efforts to unionize all the mines, are seeking to get a strangle hold on the entire industry, enforce outrageous wage demands and the extension of the check-out system,
and inflict an unwarranted advance in coal prices
upon the consumer.

The miners say the operators are trying to compel arbitration in wage fixing, to which the union can not agree and survive. The operators say that the wage demands of the union are so unreasonable that an agreement can never be reached by negotiation and there must be arbitration. There can never be an adjustment of differences. The operators are indefensible, otherwise they would not decline to arbitrate,
and to this the miners retort that they always did the worst of it in an arbitration and that the insistence of the operators upon arbitration is only a subterfuge to win the approval of the uninformed and unthinking public.

In this situation it is barely possible that congress may get busy early in the approaching session and take some action that will prevent an other disastrous interruption of the nation's basic fuel supply.

There are two reasons for the belief that emergency action by congress is a remote possibility.
The first is that the coming session immediately precedes a presidential campaign and the politicians in congress will be chary about doing anything that might have a pronounced effect upon the 1924 elections. Any action that might be taken would undoubtedly provoke anagonsisms, and in such circumstances the politician's policy is invariably to do nothing.

The second reason is that in taking up the question of what is to be done about the coal industry congress will have before it the voluminous reports and recommendations of the coal commission which concluded its investigation on September 22. These embrace an amount of data and statistics that could not be digested and assimilated in the course of an entire session. Congress considered nothing else. And if the coal problem is to be settled upon anything approaching a permanent, constructive basis, the work of the coal commission must be reviewed in detail and with great care.

Manifestly congress will have other important matters to dispose of this winter. It can not give its entire attention to the situation in the coal industry, no matter how vital that may be in its bearing upon the general industrial and commercial situation.

The situation in the transportation industry is almost equally critical. With the farmers clam-oring for lower freight rates, railroad labor preparing to stage a fight for increased wages, and the railroad owners resisting the consolidation program, while at the same time there is in sight
a drive for government ownership of the roads, it is obvious that congress has something to think about besides coal.

With another coal strike in prospect it is apparent that both miners and operators are well financed and well entrenched for a prolonged fight. Both sides have been making plenty of money since the 1922 imbroglio was ended and each is confident that it has strengthened its position before the public. That is as it may be.
However, it is undoubtedly true that the union treasury has been replenished during the past year, and also that the union is stronger than ever with its members by reason of the victory in the bituminous strike.

It is equally true that the operators have been rolling up the profits since mining was resumed and that there is more of unity and common purpose in their organization than ever before.
As to how each side stands with the public,
however, the truth is not so easily ascertainable.
The evidence as to that will be developed later.

The public is quite well aware that there is something wrong, basically and chronically wrong, with the coal industry, and the state of the public mind may not be unlike that of the man whose wife had been an invalid for so long that he finally expressed the wish that she would get well, or something! If that sort of sentiment attains any considerable proportions between now and next spring the miners and operators may discover that the very worst thing they could do for their own interests would be to subject the public to the vexations and distressing conditions incident to a strike.

Meanwhile it is said that large users of coal are already accumulating reserves against the emergency that a strike next spring will create.
The present stock pile of soft coal, according to government surveys, is unusually large for this season. This means, of course, that the small consumer who can not command the resources necessary to buy coal eight or ten months in advance of his possible use of it will get the worst of it if a strike should be precipitated.

Government having to do with the disabled soldiers and the veterans, should see that a thorough investigation is made of all the acts of that branch of the government. We are simply not going to permit the soldiers of this nation who made sacrifices and offered lives freely for the national honor, to be kicked around because some grafting crook has pulled enough to head a bureau ostensibly for veteran aid.

Europe is like this: America burns up about $500,000,000 worth of buildings each year. We talk about stopping it but keep right on at the same old fire schedule. We pay enormous sums for fire insurance to reimburse people for having these fires. Then we sit down and wonder at, or get out and sharply scold Europe for keeping the fires of hate going and continuing disturbances which have racked that continent for 1900 years and expect it to be stopped at once by a weak and watery set of resolutions called a covenant of the league of nations. We will change Europe about the time we cease needing a fire department in America.

Uncle Hiram Haversack says he does not see why people advertise for missing relatives. Most of his, he allows, would never be missed.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE BANKER AND THE LIGHTHOUSE
We stood a moment at the water's edge
And saw a rugged lighthouse far at sea,
Warning the pilots of a dangerous ledge,
And then this western banker said to me:

"A lighthouse has a curious appeal,
To me there's something noble in its form;
A grandeur and a dignity I feel;
It never breaks or cringes in a storm."

"The fury of the wind can move it not,
Into the night it sends its light afar,
A few brave men, among our changing lot,
In times of stress much like a lighthouse are."

"I know, in all my circle, one or two Who brave the storms unmoved, erect and straight,
Holding their place 'gainst all the fates may do—Strongly rugged noble characters, and great!"

And as we turned to leave, and looked once more
To watch the angry waters break and roll
Against the lighthouse far away from shore,
Thought I, this lighthouse has a poet's soul.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON.

GRANDPA LIKED THIS ONE

Dear Roy.—A man came in our office early this morning and wanted to know if we knew how to make a fish net. We told him we were not interested in fish. He persisted in telling us that all we would have to do to make a good net was to gather a lot of holes and tie them together. Whereupon we immediately threw him out of the place. Did we do right?—C. M. T.

Cal is a real solace in one way.—When he does say anything, you don't have to stop and try to figure out what he means.

"The sixth sense is specially developed in women, who, nine times out of ten, are able to discern when their husbands are lying to them."

This is the first indication we have ever had that there was any wife in the world who was without this sixth sense. Some of them we believed have eight or nine senses working twenty-four hours a day.

Who's Who Today

BJALMAR BRANTING

European statesman who wish to see the League of Nations a weak and harmless thing
are worried over the activities of Bjalmar Branting, Swedish member of the council of the league.

At his recent meeting of the council in Geneva Branting never ceased campaigning for stern measures with Mussolini. He argued that the league would become the laughing stock of the world unless it could become the champion of weak nations
when their rights were trum-phed upon by their more powerful neighbors. His efforts to punish Italy for brow-beating Greece failed.

Branting, who is sixty-three years old, has throughout his political career been a member of the Socialist party of Sweden and for a long time its leader. By profession he is a journalist, and many of his activities in connection with peace efforts were carried out by him as managing editor of the Socialist Democratic of Stockholm, which position he held when in March, 1920, he became the first Socialist premier of Sweden. His cabinet held office until December of that year.

He was active in Paris during the peace conference as a strong advocate of peace on the lines of Woodrow Wilson's fourteen points. In 1921 he was awarded one-half of the N. A. I.
Peace prize, the other half going to Christian Lange of Norway, secretary of the Interparlia-mentary Union.

Personal Health Service

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author

POSTURE AND THE VEINS

It is a common and I think an erroneous notion that the chief cause of varicose or dilated veins in the legs
is long standing, arduous occupations as cooking, motoring, etc., or standing. If persons so engaged are particularly susceptible to overdistension and dilation of the veins because they assume a weighty posture,
the posture of fatigue and relaxation; this bad posture is as much a matter of habit as unhygienic clothing and is of far greater importance.

The cook comes by her varicose veins through vanity and slavish conformity to custom. She puts on some narrow shoes with the nearest approach to French heels she can get,
and she hangs her stockings on her calves, by means of leg garters or strings. She hangs her skirts by means of sundry belts and draw-strings, and thus accords the drag thru the day's torture. Should the doctor advise her to dance now and then long enough to stand on her head, or rest her heels on the kitchen floor, she decides, "No, a little unbalanced."

Perhaps man's upright posture predisposes to distention and dilation of the hemorrhoidal and other pelvic veins, but that it does so, in the enlargement of the veins of the legs, hemorrhoidal veins support a considerable column of blood without the aid of any valves such as are present in the veins of the arms. It is a slouchy posture habit, which means relaxation and weakness of the belly muscles, more particularly predisposes to venous distention and congestion in the pelvic and lower abdominal regions. This slouchy posture is a habit of the masses.

VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS

WORK REVIEWED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]

Madison.—Work of the state department of vocational education will be reviewed and plans for the coming year outlined at a meeting of the state board of vocational education here
last Tuesday, George F. Hambrecht, director, announced.

Reports will be given the board by superintendents of various departments of vocational education, including academic, art, commercial physical education and trades of industry. Director Hambrecht will take up with the board problems of the department.

The meeting will be the quarterly session of the board.

Remembering the scene between them to which I had been a witness on the night of the murder, I could not see them thus together; but perceiving the bearing of all three that she was dominated here as a permanent guest, this wonder was lost in another: why Orpha should not sense the secret with which, as I watched them, the whole seemed to palpitate.

But then she had not had my opportunities for enlightenment.

A little old lady whom I had not seen before but who was evidently a much esteemed relative of the family made the fifth at the dinner table. Formally introduced, I was our only refuge from an embarrassing silence which would have made speech impossible. As it was, Miss Colfax was the only one who talked and what she said was of too little moment to be remembered. I was glad when the meal was at an end and I could with propriety withdraw.

Between the hotel and rooms in the dreariest of hotels that this better a cell—Ah, no, not my very soul recoiled. Not that I had a fear of the hotel, but that I was afraid of the man who was just a little more than a minute from the great staircase on my way up.

But I was sane enough the next moment. The front door had opened, admitting the Inspector at last. He was coming to the court to meet him. Accosting him, I said in explanation of my presence, "You see me here, Inspector? But if not detained, I shall seek other quarters tomorrow. I was very anxious to get back to my desk in New York, if the firm are willing to receive me. But whether they or here, I am always at your call. Let this dreadful matter be settled. Now if you have no questions to ask, I am going to my room, where I can be found at any minute."

"Very good," was his sole reply, uttered without any display of feeling; and, seeing that he wished nothing from me, I left him and went quickly upstairs.

I always dreaded the passage from the second floor to the third—to-night more than ever. Not that I was affected by the sensational idea connected by many with that special flight of steps—certainly I was too sensible a man for that, though I had had my own little thrill once too—but the dread of the acute memories associated with the doors I must pass was strong upon me, and it was with relief that I found myself at last in my own little hall.

Even if I had yet to hurry by the small, winding staircase at the bottom of which was a listening car, I should have been reassured. But I was not. I had taken the turn from the main hall, I had had time to note the quiet figure of Wealthy seated in his old place, his face turned my way—a figure of stone with all the wondrous good humor and kindness of former days.

Stricken from it, making it to my eyes one of deliberate concealment. Was not this exactly what I had feared and dreaded to encounter? Yes, and the experience was not an agreeable one. But for all that, I was not without its compensations. Any idea I may have had of her being the one to warn me that the key invariably carried by her was on his person was not to be found there at his death, was now definitely eliminated from my mind. She could not have shown this sympathy for me in my anomalous position and restored vitality of girlhood and improve physical beauty.

Beauty is sometimes a gift, but more often an acquirement. And any specialist will tell you that you can have a clearer complexion, better figure, rounder cheeks, and more of the sparkle of girlish health in your eyes, if you judiciously guard the condition of your digestive organs, liver, nerves and blood—if you correct in time the little defects in your appearance that are so often quickly and easily remedied.

LOOK YOUR BEST! Build yourself up! Take a good tonic, as your doctor would advise. The prescription of Dr. H. S. Thacher, the celebrated American Physician, is now being used in countless numbers of cases here to round out the beautiful lines of the face, firm, solid flesh. This wholesome vegetable tonic (known as Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup Tonic) has proved to be excellent for clearing up the skin by improving digestion, waking up the sluggish liver and sending purer, healthier blood coursing through rosy cheeks. Hair Beauty

Ever wavy, ever glossy—as is mine

By Edna Wallace Hopper

Many women, I am told, use curling fluids which are very crude. And they use greasy, oily applications to give the hair gloss.

I want those women to use what I use—the best that science knows. So I have asked some famous chemists to prepare my Hair Dress. Now all druggists and toilet counters can supply you with it.

I am not a cosmetic maker. My work is on the stage and screen. But I was induced to offer women the aids which gave me beauty and which have kept my youth. Now those women—thousands of them—ask me how I keep my hair so ever-curling, ever-glossy. And they have urged me to supply them the method that I use.

That method is my Hair Dress. I apply it on a tooth brush or a comb. For an instant wave I find the hair by upward combing. When I want a lasting curl, to last a week or more, I use curlers after the application.

Hair Dress contains no grease, no oil. Yet it gives my hair that wonderful luster which millions have admired. Some people—men especially—want that luster without curl. They simply omit the curling fluid. But those who want a lasting curl can get it.

No woman I know would think of using crude products on her hair. They fear for the best that science can produce. In my Hair Dress you will find the best that science knows in this line. And it costs you nothing more than a few cents.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred is happy to advise all mothers about the care of their children of any age, or on any subject which does not belong in the field of the doctor.

It always seems most surprising that there should be anyone who can have the advantage of pure and clean cows' milk who would voluntarily choose a proprietary food, but this is quite a common practice. It is so much easier to believe the advertisements of foods that are bought in a can than to put one's faith in ordinary cows' milk, water and sugar as a substitute for mother milk.

Proprietary foods have some big advantages and some very good points. First of all they are extremely expensive. Secondly, those that are not mixed with cows' milk do not contain all the necessary elements for perfect growth and development. Thirdly, if they are, the very sweet condensed milk it is not a properly balanced food, it spoils a child's taste for foods that are unadorned, or else the child grows fat and lazy.

HEART AND HOME

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have read several letters asking how to reduce. I can only give you my experience. I was about ten pounds over weight, not much, but I did not look pleasant. My father is a doctor. I tried eating less to no avail, and all the while my face looked on an amused, a smile lurking near his lips.

"If you really want to reduce," work," that was his advice. I took it.

I eat candy between meals and anything I want, and yet I keep in trim. My advice is, work, not hard, but work. Do your housework, dust, shake rugs, etc. Starving yourself won't turn the trick. It is no use trying.

WIFE SAYS: Your advice about work is all right, my dear, but your other remarks are not sound. I will admit that diet without understanding of calories often avails nothing. Also exercise avails nothing if it increases the appetite and more food is taken into the system.

People of correct weight need not flatter themselves that they work harder than their fatter sisters because that is not true in any sense. Very often active and hard-working women are burdened with superfluous weight. It does not hurt any person who wishes to reduce to make a study of the calories in food. There are several good books on the subject, ranging from a dollar up. With an understanding of the proper amount of calories for which the body is built, it is possible to eat candy between meals. Candy is rich in calories, however, and when candy is eaten, study should be made not to eat too much of other things.

One Out of Every Four Children Needs a Tonic

This is a horrible indictment of our modern American way of raising children—but a recent test showed that 25% of school children between the ages of 5 and 15 were susceptible to colds and were easy prey to epidemics of "Flu," Diphtheria and other diseases. And who cause their little bodies did not have the resistance to throw off the early stages of illness? These weakened children owe their condition to their parents who allow them to eat when and what they want and pamper them in every way.

Build up their bodies so they can resist disease.

You owe your children a sturdy body. It is your duty to see that they get it so they can combat the epidemics which are so prevalent in this time of "Flu" and which spread so rapidly in school rooms.

Jenquin's Ext. Cod Liver Oil Pills.

The best children's tonic is cod liver oil. Everyone knows that. But it is not true in any sense without the odor and taste of the oil. They are just as pleasant to take as candy, and they build up strength and health quickly. Start today. You can quickly have your child in shape to stand the winter snows and colds.

MASSAGE OF THE HANDS

Too long a time to know that massaging the hands is just as beautiful as massaging the face. In either case it stimulates the circulation and clears the skin, and therefore lessens the tendency to surface blemishes. Some shops have changed the meaning of the word manicuring by taking care of not only the nails, but the hand and forearm as well. Flat fingers are moulded and pressed into the tips to make them taper, enlarged joints massaged to reduce the swelling, the palm of the hand rubbed and exercised to make the flesh firm and not flabby; skin foods or skin bleaches are put on if there is need of them, wrists moulded and finally the arm massaged to stimulate the blood.

How much good all this does is a problem. Certainly it does no harm, and certainly it is pleasant for those who can afford it. That improves the texture of the skin, and in a few cases reduces large joints has been shown again and again. Years of patient work might slightly change the shape of the fingers; a baby's fingers could be easily moulded, for instance. But massage will do little to reduce joints badly enlarged from rheumatism or arthritis, though it would help make the fingers more comfortable for these ailments.

You will probably think from this that hand massage is only for the very rich. Not at all. Massage your own hands. It is the easiest sort of home treatment. If they are old looking, use a lanoline cream, and rub well into the skin after you have washed with hot water. Stroke backwards veins that may swell, and hold

THE LIFE OF A HOME
A healthy, happy, contented wife is the life and joy of the home and the greatest inspiration a man can have. Yet how many homes in America are blighted by the ill health and sufferings of the wife and mother. It may be backache, headaches, the tortures of a displacement of some or all of the pelvic organs to her sex, which makes her irritable, despondent, and her whole life a burden. Joint-Ease For Stiff, Swollen Joints
Rheumatic or Otherwise
Says: "When Joint-Ease Gets in—Joint Agony Gets Out."

It was a high-class pharmacist who saw prescription after prescription fail to help hundreds of his customers to get rid of rheumatic swellings and stiff, inflamed joints. And it was this same man who asserted that a remedy could be compounded that would make croaky, swollen, tormented joints work with just as much smoothness as they ever did.

Now this prescription, rightly named Joint-Ease, after being tested successfully on many obstinate cases, is offered through progressive pharmacists to the millions of people who suffer from ailing joints that make limbering up a task.

Swollen, twinging, inflamed, stiff, pain-tortured joints are usually caused by rheumatism, but whatever the cause, Joint-Ease goes straight to the source and sets the joints right to work and corrects the trouble at its source.

Remember, Joint-Ease is for ailments of joints, whether the ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, spine or finger, and when you rub it on, you may expect speedy and gratifying results.

It is now on sale at druggists everywhere for 60 cents a tube. —Advertisement.

LA TEST MARKET REPORT

GRAIN

Chicago Review.—Although wheat took a pronounced upward swing at the opening Friday, a decline soon set in. Initial gains were ascribed to news from Washington about plans proposed for government financing of wheat and flour exports to Germany. Increased likelihood of such action, a national economic conference was also a bullish factor, but selling broadened on wheat advanced, causing a reaction. The opening, which varied from unchanged to 1/2¢ higher, with Dec. 12½¢ and May 11½¢, was followed by a gain of one cent a bushel in some cases and then a drop to below Thursday's finish. Subsequently selling here against purchases in Winnipeg and elsewhere. The northwestern wheat market, influenced by Chicago prices, the close was unsettled, 1/2¢ to 1/4¢ net lower, with Dec. 10½¢ to 10½¢, and May 11½¢ to 11½¢.

Unfavorable weather made corn and oats relatively firmer than wheat. After opening 1/2¢ to 1/4¢ higher, Dec. 10½¢ and May 11½¢, the corn market hardened a little more and then eased down somewhat.

The big discount prevailing for future contracts compared with cash market tended to restrict selling. Closing quotations were unsettled at 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ gain, with Dec. 10½¢ to 10½¢, and May 11½¢ to 11½¢.

Oats started 1/2¢ to 1/4¢ higher, Dec. 10½¢ and May 11½¢, advanced a trifle more and then eased down. The market demand gave a lift to the provision market.

81½¢. Marketable winter made corn and oats relatively firmer than wheat. After opening 4½¢ to 5¢ higher, Dec. 74½¢ and 74½¢, respectively, and then eased down somewhat.

Wheat discount prevailing for future deliveries as compared with cash prices, 1½¢ to 2½¢. Cash quotations were unsettled at 4½¢ to 5¢ net gain, Dec. 74½¢ to 74½¢ to 74½¢ to 74½¢. Corn, 42¢, advanced a trifle more and then became easier. Better demand was

BANKER'S FATE LOCKED IN PEN

Convicts at Stillwater Must Be Released Before Case Can Be Made.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS]
Alma, Wis.—On the success or failure of state attorneys to obtain release of two men claimed to be serving terms in the Minnesota penitentiary depends the state's action in the case of George B. Orady, former vice president of the Mondovi State bank of Mondovi, who is scheduled to go to trial here Monday, Oct. 29, on charge of conspiracy to rob a bank. Representatives of the state attorney general's department have appealed to Minnesota in an effort to obtain two men from the Minnesota penitentiary as principal witnesses. It is understood.

Attracted Attention
The Orady case has attracted considerable attention throughout the state. It was called for trial early this week but was continued until next Monday on motion of the state. The attorney general's department will be represented at the trial by Assistant J. E. Messerschmidt, who will assist Special District Attorney Martin Fugate.

Orady is charged with having conspired to rob the bank of which he was vice president. The institution was robbed on last December 23, late in the day after business hours while Orady was in the bank alone. He is of a prominent family in this section. The defendant claims that while he was alone in the bank two strangers entered, forced him into the vault at the point of guns, and escaped with $5,000 in currency and silver. Later in the day a janitor in supposed to have heard Orady in the vault and to have summoned assistance. Several months after the robbery, Orady and two other men were arrested, charged with being implicated in the affair. The cases against the other two defendants were dismissed last July 2, at a preliminary hearing.

Charge Conspiracy
The state alleges that the three men employed Charles Blad and Alfred Myers of St. Paul to carry out the robbery, for which they are claimed to have been paid a considerable sum. The state claims to have confessions from the two men, who are said to be serving terms at Stillwater penitentiary, implicating Orady. The trial is expected to attract widespread attention.

To the Children of the Grade Schools
of Janesville and Vicinity:

Dear Children:

On November 6th, I will present the world famous dog wonder, Rin-tin-tin, the star featured in the gripping picture story of the northern wilderness, "Where The North Begins."

I presume you all remember "The Silent Call" with the dog actor "Strong Heart," but "Where The North Begins" featuring Rin-tin-tin is a far better picture with better acting, more gripping scenes, and a better theme.

It has always been my pleasure to have children express their interest in animals, and in this connection, I announce an essay contest on the subject: "The Dog—Man's Best Friend," and offer $25 in gold to be divided into three prizes, one of $15 and two of $5.00 each, for the best essays.

The essay should be mailed or brought to the essay editor of the Janesville Gazette. Essays should not be over 100 words in length, and should be written on one side of the paper only. The contest will close Saturday, November 3, at 9 o'clock p. m. and will be confined to the grade school children of Janesville and vicinity.

Three competent judges will be appointed and their names announced later.

The winners will be announced in the Gazette Monday evening, November 5th.

Parkers Start on World Tour Via Australia

On their second trip in two years in which they will circumnavigate the globe, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Parker and daughter, Miss Virginia, leave Janesville Nov. 2 for San Francisco and from there sail on the President Taft, Nov. 8, for Japan. A week's delay in leaving was necessitated by crewing conditions on the steamer on which they had planned to take passage.

The Parkers will arrive at Kobe, Japan, Nov. 22, after a trip of 4,782 miles. They will stop at Honolulu en route. Visits to Yokohama, and Tokyo, are also planned, and the party will then go to Seoul, Korea. Their next stop is Peking, China, where they will spend a few days and be in Shanghai on Christmas.

According to their itinerary which will be followed closely, Manila, in the Philippines, will next be visited. They will arrive there Dec. 30 and leave Jan. 8. From there they go to Melbourne, Australia, a place they did not visit on their former trip, enroute to the continent.

Batavia, Java, Rangoon, Calcutta, Lucknow, Delhi, Bombay, India will be visited during March and April. The Parkers expect to arrive at Aden, Arabia on April 27; Port Said, Egypt, May 6; Rome, Italy, May 12. Five days later they will be in Stuttgart, Germany, visiting John Gollner, former Janesville resident. From there they will return to Janesville, embarking on an English port.

MARCH ON BERLIN BY REDS BLOCKED BY POLICE FORCES

late last night remains to be seen. At most of these places, however, the republicans are subjected to a sort of guerrilla warfare on the part of their opponents, a frequent intervention by the French and Belgian troops to restore order. Only at Trier do they seem to enjoy undisturbed possession. The republicans also state they have captured a number of small towns such as Godesburg, Boppard, St. Goar and Euskirchen. The city of Cologne is dependent on its dairy products and foodstuffs.

After re-taking the provincial government building and post office where the provisional separatist government, headed by Joseph Mathies visited Colonel Phillips, the French delegate on the high commission, on leaving the consular office Mathies said that the republicans had handed the Rhineland commission a declaration requesting recognition of their regime in Coblenz, promising to respect the authority of the occupation forces.

SEPARATIST MOVE AGAINST PROTECTOR'S WISHES IS CHARGE

(By Associated Press)

Berlin — Chancellor Stresemann, in a speech at Hagen, Westphalia, said the separatist movement in the Rhineland was against the unanimous wishes of the German inhabitants, who would have put it down speedily but for the support of the French and Belgian bayonets.

At a conference with the Ruhr and Rhineland industrial leaders, the chancellor promised that the government would still give financial assistance to the occupied regions and that a provisional stable currency would be created by the Rhineland.

In his speech, the chancellor said Germany would make no further deliveries to the allies "because the occupation of the Ruhr is inadmissible."

VARIETY SUCCESS REPORTED IN SEPARATIST MOVEMENT

(By Associated Press)

Berlin — Rhineland reports from numerous places in the Rhineland indicate that the separatists are waging their battle for a Rhineland republic with varied success. The local opposition by loyal Germans is becoming sturdier as the separatists grow bolder.

Fighting now extends from Aix-la-Chapelle to Speyer, the Palatinate having suddenly become the scene of republican activities which are liberally being followed by the French military authorities. It is said to be in the face of native indignation and opposition to a proposal championed by local socialist leaders that the Palatinate be constituted an autonomous state within the republic.

Fighting in the Rhineland, as reported here, has chiefly resolved itself into fistfights and the black jacking of separatists by their German opponents who, not being allowed to carry weapons, are making use of their brawn and muscle.

CITY PREPARES FOR VIGOROUS DEFENSE

(By Associated Press)

News — If separatists arrive here they will be met by guards. These men have telephone connection with police headquarters where food and beer enough to last weeks have been stored in the event that the republicans endeavor to corner the town's defenders. All the outer streets have been dug. The burgomaster says he will fight to the finish.

FULL CONFERENCE MUST BE ASSURED, SAYS HUGHES

(By Associated Press)

Washington — Although the American government stands ready to conference, having a full attendance of allied powers, it is not willing to agree before hand to a meeting at which there might be empty chairs.

Thus, in substance, has Secretary Hughes replied to the latest overture from abroad for American intervention to untangle the international snarl over the collection of war indemnities from Germany.

For the moment, officials are content not to elaborate on the secretary's pronouncement, or to predict what effect it may have on the British effort to at last obtain some semblance of a world wide effort to solve the ills of the European continent.

That Mr. Hughes replied in the negative to Lord Curzon's question on the possibility of American representation on the negotiations commission is held by officials to be a natural and inescapable result of the policy followed by the United States ever since it signed the 1919 treaty of Versailles. American membership on this commission, as set up under the treaty, was an issue in the treaty ratification fight, and even the temporary assignment of an American "observer" to serve unofficially with the commission was assailed in congress as an unwarranted interference in the affairs of Europe. An effort at the last session to pass a senate resolution authorizing full representation failed almost in its inception.

FRANCE GOVERNMENT IS READY FOR CONFERENCE

(By Associated Press)

Paris — The French government is willing that an international conference of experts to be named by the reparations commission be called to consider the question of reparations in conformity with the treaty of Versailles.

The French government, it was said in official circles this morning would be most happy if the government of the United States could name an expert to participate in such a conference.

It was announced that Premier Poincaré, in the name of the French government, already had informed Secretary of State Hughes that he would accept.

BELGIAN GOVERNMENT EXPECTED TO ACCEPT

(By Associated Press)

Brussels — The Belgian government is expected in official circles to accept the suggestion for an examination of Germany's capacity to pay, provided this be done by a consultative committee of the reparations commission.

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE IS BELIEVED TO BE NEARER

(By Associated Press)

London — Official British opinion concerning the response of Secretary of State Hughes to Lord Curzon's reparations conference invitation is cautious and reserved. Broadly, however, there is a feeling in the government departments that America's clear cut declaration brings an international conference on reparations appreciably nearer. While the general attitude of the United States was known, the British government appears much gratified to have the Coalfields administration re-state clearly, on paper, its policy.

URGES SOUTH TO BACK SOUTHERNER

Underwood Move May Result in Spectacular Convention in 1924.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright 1923, by Janesville Daily Gazette.

Washington—Senator Oscar Underwood of Alabama has started something that may make the democratic national convention of 1924 as spectacular and dramatic as the party convocation of 1912 in Baltimore. He has begun an appeal to the south to back a southern man for the presidential nomination.

Under the rules of democratic conventions it takes a two-thirds vote to nominate, so if Mr. Underwood can muster more than one-third his friends would be in a position to prevent the nomination of anyone else until the merits of the Underwood candidacy had been thoroughly canvassed by the delegates.

But Mr. Underwood's campaign may do more. It already is making an invasion of states that might be expected to send delegations instructed for William Gibbs McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, who was born in Tennessee and whose hold on the south has been one of the principal factors counted upon by his supporters to win the nomination for him next year. More than that, Henry Ford has been looked upon as much more likely to acquire delegates in the south and west than in the eastern states. If Mr. Underwood carries the southern delegations and holds them in his hand he will be in a position to swing for Mr. McAdoo, or John W. Davis, or any of the conservative candidates instead of a radical, should it be apparent the Alabama senator cannot win.

Yes, It Is Underwood
But since Oscar Underwood has opened up, some of the skeptics who shrug their shoulders in doubt, wondering the possibility of a southern nominee is mentioned are saying now that if anybody can upset the tradition and win a democratic nomination from the south that man is the senior senator from Alabama, who has had the distinction of being leader of his party in the house and the senate of the United States within a decade.

Democratic politicians who commented upon Mr. Underwood's opening speeches to the effect that the northern democrats ought to recognize the south, declare they have no lack of appreciation of southern democrats and that they have no objection to a southerner because of the section from which he comes. They argue in support of their view that Woodrow Wilson was a southerner but that he was nominated from a northern state. They insist that their main reason for wanting a northerner is that he would be more likely to carry doubtful states in the east and north while the democratic party is always sure of the south as against a republican nominee.

The big question on which Mr. Underwood's chances turn is how much strength would he develop in the north and east and west. If the democrats decide on a dump ticket and raise the prohibition issue they will count on a combination of eastern and southern votes to win, thus more or less forfeiting the "dry" west. Under those circumstances, Mr. Underwood is acceptable for he is allied with the "wets" and has been sought by the "drys" from time to time. The only other serious contenders for a "wet" nomination would be Gov. Al Smith of New York and John W. Davis of West Virginia, as Mr. McAdoo, Henry Ford, Senator Ralston of Indiana and most of the others prominently mentioned for the democratic nomination are allied with the drys.

Senator Underwood is one of the most popular men in Washington. He was an intimate friend of the late President Harding, who appointed him a member of the American delegation which negotiated the four-power pact and the treaties on limitation of naval armaments. Members of congress from the south and other parts of the country have a deep affection for Oscar Underwood and usually senators and representatives have much to say about the naming of delegates to a national convention. The strength mustered by Mr. Underwood in the 1912 convention is still vivid in the memory of politicians, and were it not for his willingness to release his delegates the nomination of Woodrow Wilson might not have been made.

Senator Underwood is stirring things up and making the democratic race a real contest, in contrast to the republican situation which at the moment appears to be concentrated on the nomination of President Coolidge with relatively little opposition.

BUY CHEVROLETS FOR POLICE DUTY

Three New Ford Touring Cars Are Exchanged for Three Janesville Products.

Janesville policemen will drive Chevrolet touring cars instead of Fords in patrolling the city, under the plans of the new administration.

The change in the new equipment of the police department was brought about Thursday afternoon when City Manager Henry Traxler effected a trade-in of the three new Ford touring cars for three new Chevrolet touring models, delivery to be made at once. The deal was made with the R. W. Motor company and it is understood the extra cost to the city will be nominal, possibly less than $300, as the Fords were traded in at their full value; they being only two days old.

In addition the city will be getting cars equipped with speedometers, a necessity for police duty. An order which had been placed for speedometers for all the Fords has been canceled as a result of the change in plans.

The change is believed to have been brought about through a desire to give the Chevrolet, a home product, an "even break" with the Ford in city equipment. The three new Ford roadsters bought on a trade-in for three old ones will remain in city service while the three touring cars will go to the R. W. company in exchange for three Chevrolet touring cars.

Will Eliminate "Death Curve" on Road to Rockford

Of interest to Janesville motorists is a plan being fostered in Rockford to straighten out the Rockford-Beloit road so as to eliminate "death curve" above the high bridge, the next step in the proceedings being to acquire a right-of-way.

The Rockford and Interurban Railroad company owns the "frog pond" from which the necessary land will have to be taken to straighten the road, and County Highway Superintendent A. R. Carter will confer with Manager W. C. Sparks soon relative to purchasing the tract.

In event an amicable agreement cannot be reached in regard to price, condemnation proceedings will be started.

The present roadway will be abandoned when the new right-of-way is pushed through, and the land will revert back to the original owners. The interurban company will get the west half of the strip and the syndicate owning the property on the east side of the road will draw the east half.

The cost of straightening the road will be $2,565 plus the value of the land over and above the cost of the graded bridge widening, but the increased safety for traffic will more than compensate for the higher cost of the straightening.

LIST OF WINTER FRUITS COMPLETE

Washington Eating Pears Arrive—Grapes and Apples Plentiful.

With the coming of winter eating pears, which are now being received from Washington state, the list of winter fruits is complete. The pears sell from 40 to 60c per dozen, according to size. Grapes are still exceptionally good. Concord grapes are now being shipped in from Michigan and will probably be received until Thanksgiving. They sell from 37 to 40c per basket. Tokays and Green grapes are 15c per pound.

Among the new products of this year are elder for Halloween at $1 per gallon; dill pickles at 40c per dozen, and new honey at 25 to 28c per pound.

Cauliflower Is Cheaper.
Vegetable prices are as follows: Honey dew melons, 30c; peppers, 3 for 10c; cauliflower, 15 to 25c, showing a few cents reduction from last week's price; lettuce, 15c; onions, 5c per pound, with the exception of Spanish, which are 9 or 10c, and green onions at 10c per bunch; rutabagas, 4c pound; sweet potatoes, 4c; turnips, 4c; spinach, 15c; celery, 6 to 10c; cabbage, 3c; squash, 15 to 20c; pumpkins, 15 to 20c; beets, 7c; string beans, 15c; parsnips, 6c.

With the exception of eating pears, few are on the market, but they sell for $2.10 per bushel, about 15c lower than two weeks ago. Oranges are 30 to 55c and lemons remain at 40c. Bananas bring 12c per pound and grapefruit 6c each to two for 25c. Cranberries are 12½ to 15c.

PORTER
Porter—Mrs. Albert Anderson, Cambridge called on friends here Thursday. Mrs. Frank Boss visited Janesville relatives during the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. O. Olson spent Sunday with the latter's parents, near Cambridge. Mrs. A. Candor and family spent Sunday in Janesville. Wesley Hanson and Elmer Olson, Edgerton, called on friends here Friday. A. A. Feldt spent the week-end with his family in Edgerton. Mrs. Samuel G. Gammon, Milwaukee, visited Mrs. J. Wheeler recently. H. Dalby has leased the Seibel farm in Abbot and will move March 1. He has lived on the C. Sweet farm several years. Edward Jensen received two carloads of Montana sheep Saturday.

KUECK IN CHARGE OF NIGHT FORCE AT SUGAR PLANT

William Kueck, assistant superintendent of the Rock County Sugar company, has charge of about 150 men on the night shift at the plant. This number is one-half of the total number of men working there. The work at night is practically the same as that during the day, as there are two men for each station, one for night and one for day.

Although the work of each superintendent is separate by reason of the two shifts, both Mr. Kueck and Porter H. Sparks, general superintendent, have been required to put in long hours overtime in making reports to one another.

A new gas pump was added to the plant at the factory. No breakdowns have occurred and the plant is running smoothly. Beets are being received in large quantities.

NEXT INSTITUTE MEETING NOV. 7
